- 25X1 1. The former Lange & Zepp shipyards have been brought together under the name Krasnoflot #3 (Red Navy Nr 3). They are located in Riga (57°N, 24°E), on the banks of the Dvina at the bay of Agenskains (Hagensberg) opposite the old Naval Academy. The approach to the yard is closed to unauthorized pedestrians and motor traffic. Double sentries guard the barrier.
- 25X1 2. On the right side of the road (Schiffstrasse) is a dry dock where warships of up to 12,000 tons can be repaired. An electric power station has been established here, and there is also a large construction lumber stockpile. On the left side of the road is the recently enlarged factory area where 25X1 six slips have been built. Five of the slips are to be used for building Schnorkel type submarines, but the sixth slip was not yet completed by November 1949. The #7 and #8 slips, located on the land formerly belonging to the Zepp Yards, are to be used for construction of fast cutters. This is done in series, so that at times four cutters are built at once.
3. The first three houses at the head of Schiffstrasse are reserved for technical personnel, who live here in luxury and whose contacts with the outside world are limited. Outsiders are not allowed to stop on the wharves or the adjacent area. Nine thousand workers, directed by Soviet and German engineers, are employed here. Many of them are PWs imported from the East. Only a few Latvians work in the yards.
